MARKETING AUTOMATION HEALTH CHECK

Is Your Marketing Automation Performing as you Expected?
Let Accelent Consulting help evaluate your current system configuration and ensure that you are maximizing your return on this strategic investment.

Accelent consultants can assess your current deployment based on our experience working with companies using Eloqua/Oracle, Marketo, Pardot, Hubspot and other marketing automation tools to determine your level of marketing automation effectiveness. Accelent's Marketing Automation Health Check costs $12,000 and takes 3-4 weeks to complete. This investment will help you evaluate where you are being successful, where you could improve, and decide how best to allocate further marketing automation investments. Far from cookie-cutter, our approach is to learn first-hand about your particular situation and bring our outside-in perspective to the assessment.

Companies often develop grand plans for their marketing automation strategic vision and build business cases that make good sense on paper. For a variety of reasons, many Marketing teams find themselves in only a partially-realized automation scenario, even after a number of years on a platform. Accelent's consultants have helped companies work through these challenges and begin to derive measurable benefit from marketing automation.

Accelent Consulting provides advisory services for companies considering and having implemented marketing automation systems. This before and after perspective gives Accelent a unique vantage point to leverage in our Health Check engagements. Our team of consultants has years of experience implementing and using marketing automation to drive sales and increase marketing effectiveness. We can help your team think through the critical issues and develop strategies for moving your marketing automation vision further into production.
